Sequoia Lighting connects with major Hollywood Studios

The Sequoia Lighting Corporation is supplying several Hollywood studios with custom designed area and street lighting products for use in their upcoming movies.

Universal Studios is currently shooting a remake of the science fiction classic, "The War of the Worlds". Sequoia Lighting's design and engineering team has worked closely with Universal Studios' set designers in order to select outdoor lighting products that will blend in with the movie's visionary streetscapes.

Sequoia Lighting's nostalgic and contemporary luminaires have been installed on the sets of several recently released movies. Their lighting products were integral components on the sets of "Spider Man", "Cat In the Hat", and "The Big Lebowski", to name just a few.

Other Hollywood studios that have utilized Sequoia Lighting's products for use on their movie sets include Warner Brothers, MGM and Disney.
